Men in Petticoats.
One of the medical papers has been discussing the Cornishman custom of dressing grown up boys in petticoats and does not seem to be aware that it is merely a survival of what was once the general practice in Ireland. Half a century ago young men of nineteen might be seen—and were seen—within thirty miles of Dublin counting in petticoats in the country lanes. These were worn with high waists and long skirts reaching almost to the ankles, and a Holland straitjacket resembling an English countryman's smock completed the costume, but there was no difficulty in distinguishing the sexes by their dress. The man's waist was right under his armpits, while the woman's was in the usual place. When they walked out together they resembled a couple of figures from the Noah's ark of the toy shop, a proof of the real antiquity of the costume—London Tatler.

The Beauty of the Lilies.
"Er—Miss Hardy—Grace—do you not think that these valley lilies are very beautiful?"
"Not so beautiful as orange blossom, Mr. Jones."
And, thus assisted and encouraged, he presently drifted out upon the wide, wide sea of wedded bliss.

Intimication.
"So the insolent fellow refused to pay his rent?"
"He did not say so in words, but he intimated it."
"How so?"
"He kicked me downstairs!"—Paris Journal.

The Merit of Good Work.
The great thing is to produce nothing of which, if it comes into broad light, you will be ashamed, and then whether it does come into broad light or no need not much trouble you.—Matthew Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Maxwell Hankins returned Sunday afternoon from a visit of several days to Jacksonville, during which they were guests of the Duval Hotel.

It is quite probable that Mayor Smith will place an additional day policeman on at an early date. He says that he does not like it, but he thinks the conditions will demand it.

Daytona so far this season has been exempt from a touch of frost and the several fields of potato vines in this vicinity look bright. Potato vines are very easily tipped by a touch of frost.

Hon. Harry H. Floyd, representative to the Legislature from St. Johns County, and the newly appointed Tax Collector, was in the city Saturday, enroute to St. Augustine to assume his duties.

This is a week of prayer with several churches of the city. Services will be held tonight at the Congregational Church, Tuesday evening, Baptist Church, and Wednesday evening, First
M. E. Church.

The buggy driven by Dr. Bohannon collided with an automobile, Sunday night, at the corner of Beach Street and Magnolia Avenue. After the collision, the horse became startled running a short distance, and tearing off one of the wheels from the buggy.

Rev. Shoemaker, pastor of the First Baptist Church, preached two very impressive sermons, Sunday. In the morning the subject was, "Christ's Service to Man," in the evening, "Man's Service to God." At both services there was a fair number in attendance.
